TOPICS

- The X Factor Advantage: Women in the Workplace  Featured Topic**

Companies need women. It is our opportunity to leverage the advantage we have lacked in the workplace before. Learn from a successful female Vice President who has seen how to do it right and wrong. Learn how to win.

- Calm During the Storm: Managing through a Pandemic

It is well known that there is never a dull moment in Supply Chain. Using the Pandemic as a backdrop, delve into the art of adeptly maneuvering through crises. This exploration is based on personal experience as a leader in Supply chain of Fortune 500 companies and reviews strategies and insights that have been employed for maintaining operational stability and strategic clarity even in the face of unprecedented challenges.

- Unveiling the Unspoken Power of "Executive Presence"

It's not the most skilled and hard working employee that garners the coveted promotions. The delicate topic of conveying to employees that they may lack the "secret ingredient" to success is often avoided by managers. Equip yourself with the knowledge of what employers look for before you go into the workplace.

ADDITIONAL TOPICS

- Less Wrong and More Right: Demand Forecasting

Forecasts will be accurate. Even though applying different methodologies help you achieve improvements in accuracy levels, learn how successful companies go further by planning for the dynamic nature of demand.

- The Customer is Not Always Right

Achieving 100% Customer Satisfaction might not be the ideal goal. A fine balance between Customer Service and Internal Metric Management is key to success. Learn from a Senior Customer Supply Chain leader on making decisions that harmonize the Company's Supply Chain imperatives and Customer needs.

- Transformation or "Tear"-Formation

Transformation has become a buzz word as companies seek individuals who can thrive amidst profound change. The journey through transformation is riddled with pitfalls; many companies falter in the process. What defines success when being part of, or leading a transformation ? Gain insights from a seasoned leader who has personally led transformational journeys.
